The DIMMER VIEW

by Max Goodwin

Equal Rights, No Rights?

Last week when Marjorie Lynch was in San Diego she double-talked her audience in an explanation of Health, Education and Welfare's (HEW) order banning father-son and mother-daughter banquets.

The ban was rescinded after President Ford, in one of his more positive acts of the year, told HEW "I want something done about this."

The order had sent seismic shocks through American society and brought home the realization that bureaucrats are among our most dangerous enemies.

Marjorie Lynch is Undersecretary of HEW and was in San Diego to address a gathering of State Higher Education Executive Officers Assn.

She explained that the ruling was made at the lower level of HEW by an official who felt that such father-son banquets violated Title IX which prohibits sex discrimination in education.

What she was admitting is that bureaucrats can make personal interpretations of laws and Lord only knows how many such rulings we are now suffering because there has been no presidential interference.

Title IX of the 1972 Civil Rights Act states "Any aid, benefit, or service to a student shall not, on the basis of sex, subject any person to separate or different rules of behavior, sanctions or other treatment."

So Title IX could have separated parents from their children as Marjorie Lynch has acknowledged.

Don't stop here. There is more to follow. Both Mr. Ford and Governor Jimmy Carter have declared that they favor ratification of the radical "Equal Rights Amendment" (ERA) which would not only apply to students but it would apply to every living soul, male and female, from cradle to grave.

That Amendment reads: "Equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of sex."

That Amendment is explicit. There would be no father-son banquets. No more mother-daughter functions; No boys' schools. No girls' schools. No more Young Men's Christian Assn. No more Young Women's Christian Assn. A wife and mother, staying home and raising the family, would not be able to collect social security payments on money earned by the husband—that would be "unequal treatment." One shudders at the thought of the effect that will come with changing it from "Men" or "Women" to "Toilet."

If you doubt this observe the official position of the National Organization for Women (NOW)! "Such father-son gatherings perpetrate harmful sexual stereotypes" insisted NOW. It had aggressively supported Title IX and was aggressively pushing the ERA Amendment.

HEW's mandated reforms are proving stupid and costly to a nation already suffering from inflation and depression. A recent article in READERS DIGEST offered this evidence:

"Reed College in Oregon was forced by HEW to advertise nationally for a needed few faculty members. The small college was flooded with more than 6,000 job applications. HEW demanded that Reed keep records on the thousands of applicants not hired, and submit detailed reports to Washington as to race, sex, job qualifications, prior experience and why Reed did not hire them! Cost to Reed: more than $40,000 for useless paper work—and it probably cost the government $800,000 of your tax dollars to file, sort, tabulate and otherwise fiddle around with the papers in Washington."

But wasted time and money is only part of the story. READERS DIGEST declares "HEW (has) proclaimed control over virtually every aspect of college life, from admissions policy and physical education classes to off-campus housing."

When Brown University told an HEW bureaucrat that certain students did not meet the school's requirements for ancient languages in its religious studies program, the Fed replied "Then end these old-fashioned programs that require irrelevant languages."

The American Assn. of Presidents on Independent Colleges declares, "A more outrageous violation of academic and religious freedom can scarcely be imagined!"

One almost expects the HEW enforcer to add "Heil Hitler." Former Congresswoman Edith Green of Oregon sponsored the original Title IX Amendment but now she says that if she thought that "the legislation was designed to do some of the things which HEW now says it was designed to do . . . I, myself, would not have voted for it."

No matter how it is viewed, bureaucrats aren't returning to American citizens their lives and their privileges.

Agenda Varies as VdO Plan Nears Completion

The Valle de Oro Citizens' Executive Committee met yesterday to continue a varied discussion regarding the community plan for Spring Valley and vicinity.

At an earlier meeting, these items were discussed:

- The Land Use subcommittee recommended that zoning on Bancroft dr. remain M-1 with assurance of a "buffer" between manufacturing and residential properties. A buffer is defined as some type of screening or dense foliage.

- The committee voted unanimously to seek to include the entire Rancho San Diego area in the Valle de Oro plan. Two parcels, 112.7 and 76.9 acres, in the Rancho SD project are outside the present boundary of the VdO plan.

- The committee elected to oppose a change in the La Mesa Country Club plan. The unanimous decision was based on the consensus that piecemeal zoning changes should be resisted until the total community plan is completed. The plan is in its final stages.

County staff member Roger Wright recommended a planning strategy for Rancho San Diego whereby an overall density would be set up and each area would have a specific plan, with certain open space preserved in each.

Any commercial development would be preceded by an analysis which would require the developer to prove the need of the commercial development. The committee approved the plan.

- Copies have been produced of the narrative text of the Valle de Oro Community Plan. They are available at local libraries.

The Valle de Oro CEC meets the first Wednesday of each month in Room 1002, Monte Vista High School. Next meeting is September 1.

Felony Counts Expected for Hit, Run Man

The District Attorney was expected to file two felony charges on Wednesday against a suspect, 20, in the hit-and-run death of Brenda Marchand on July 27.

Marchand, 12, was walking westbound with her cousin on the eastbound side of Mt. Vernon st. when a car, reportedly driven at a high rate of speed, also westbound, swerved to the opposite lane and struck the girl. Her companion was not injured.

The D.A. intended to file a vehicular manslaughter charge and a felony hit and run charge in El Cajon municipal court, according to Peter Logenbach of the D.A.'s office.

The suspect's attorney was expected to surrender his client to law enforcement officials Wednesday afternoon, Logenbach said.

Services for Brenda Marchand were also scheduled for Wednesday afternoon. (Related story and obituary on Page 2.)

Cycle Wreck Kills Man

El Cajon police reported that a one vehicle motorcycle accident fatally injured Carl Johnson, of 2637 Helix st., Spring Valley at 2:10 a.m. Sunday.

The accident occurred on the 1300 block of Avocado in El Cajon.

Medical Supplies Lost

Richard Scott Bowers, a paramedic of 7138 London ln., Lemon Grove reported to sheriff's deputies that camping equipment and medical supplies had been taken from his auto while he was asleep in his residence.

The thief entered the car by popping open a window.

Three Seats Open on G'mont Hospital Board

Three seats on the Grossmont Hospital District board of trustees will be up for election November 2, announced William T. Soldmann, Jr., M.D. president at the board's regular meeting on July 21.

The four-year positions held by Irene Fancher of Lakeside, James Polak of La Mesa, and George Hurst of El Cajon will expire on January 4, 1977.

Mrs. Fancher was appointed in November, 1973, following the appointment of Polak in June, 1973. Hurst is completing his second term, having originally been elected for a January, 1969 post and appointed to fill an unexpired term in November, 1968.

The incumbents have not yet announced their intentions to seek re-election.

Soldmann pointed out that the trustees are elected by the district at large. The Grossmont Hospital District covers more than 700 sq. miles, including El Cajon, La Mesa, Lemon Grove, Spring Valley, Santee, Lakeside, portions of the city of San Diego, and extending beyond Pine Valley.

New Trash Law Brings Citations

A 1976 traffic law that has not been widely publicized is being enforced in the east county.

The law has to do with people carrying rubbish or garbage to area dumps.

According to CHP Capt. C. M. Douglas, commander of the new east county facility in El Cajon, state law requires that such material transported in open vehicles must be totally covered.

He noted that officers in his command are issuing citations for the infraction and that many drivers claim no knowledge of the law.

CHP east county telephone number is 440-4303.

Neighbors Say They'd Use LG Pool

By John Kowalczyk

Whether or not the community is successful in generating money for a swimming pool at Mt. Miguel, it is certain that the Lemon Grove vicinity residents want one.

Two community surveys conducted by Community Schools at Golden Avenue and Monterey Heights Elementarys rank swimming as one of the neighborhood's most popular wants.

Also, the Mt. Miguel Boosters, a group of parents and neighbors, have been trying for years to convince people living within the high school boundary that a Mt. Miguel Aquatics Center would be available to all, just as other pools in the Grossmont Union High School District are.

In fact, Mt. Miguel Principal Robert Pyle has statistics that prove the pool would be used more by the community at large than by physical education programs and competitive athletics.

Swimming Tops

Monterey Heights, within walking distance of the Mt. Miguel campus, ranks swimming for children as its top need, according to a recent neighborhood survey. 400 of 1600 families living in the neighborhood were asked to fill out a lengthy questionnaire, results of which are being used to sketch out the Monterey Heights Community School activity calendar for the remainder of the summer and the approaching school term.

Among 200 choices of community activities, ranging from academic tutoring to recreational programs, the category "swimming for children" was marked most frequently.

Fifty-two respondents indicated their family would participate immediately if a pool were available.

Children at Monterey Heights Elementary backed up parents' responses. A poll taken of 2nd through 6th graders before school let out for summer showed swimming was the second most requested activity with 60 responses — arts and crafts scored a 61.

Another item later in the survey asked students to select the one activity they would most prefer. Swimming topped the responses as 47 listed it their most sought after activity.

At Golden Avenue Community School, Don Linfesty, director, reports that its needs survey showed a heavy response for swimming. Out of 50 questionnaires returned thus far, 40 families indicated they would participate in a swim program if offered, he said.

Where to Go?

How do swimmers in Lemon Grove get their kicks, so to speak? Some from more affluent backgrounds enjoy their own backyard pools. Others travel to neighboring communities or YMCA's for a dip — La Mesa's Helix High and Davis Y and Monte Vista High are a few short driving miles away. Beaches and bays, of course, are even more remote to youths too young to drive.

That leaves many Lemon Grove youngsters with no body of water to walk to on a hot summer day.

The Community schools are making efforts to keep swimming on their summer program. Donna Beckley, Monterey Heights Community School director, said her group is planning a trip to Carman Ranch Club, a resort spot on Sweetwater rd. north of Mt. Miguel.

Also on tap is a backyard swim program which will put to use several of the private pools in the neighborhood.

The backyard program, far from being a free neighborhood splash-a-thon, is an organized water survival, swimming skills training session sponsored by the American Red Cross. Certificated volunteers teach the classes at neighborhood homes. The program is national in scope, Beckley said, mostly run by local PTAs.

BoS Hearing To Preclude LM Annex Try

The County Board of Supervisors will hear public comment Wednesday on the proposed annexation of approximately 500 acres of unincorporated land to the City of La Mesa.

Involved are the parcels Vista La Mesa, American Homes, Spring Valley Highlands and Rolando Knolls. Generally, the land comprises all the unincorporated territory south of La Mesa and north of the pro-Lemon Grove boundary, Highway 94.

The item is docketed for 2 p.m. on the Board's Wednesday, August 11 agenda.

Following the hearing, the Board is expected to call for an election on the issue on the November 2 ballot.

A hearing for the Lemon Grove incorporation election has been delayed pending the outcome of the La Mesa election. The proposed city boundaries would likely expand northward if La Mesa fails to annex its parcels. Rolando Knolls has been ruled out of the Lemon Grove expansion, should that occur.

Majority Wins

A simple majority vote of all areas determines the outcome of that election. A suggestion to break up the areas into separate elections was turned down by the Local Agency Formation Commission at its July 12 hearing.

The delay in setting a date for the Lemon Grove incorporation election, tentatively planned for March 1977, was disappointing to Lemon Grove attorney Jim Dorman, co-chairman of the Lemon Grove Incorporation - Reorganization Committee.

"We were hoping the county would derive a new tax rate for Lemon Grove right away," Dorman said. Local taxes are expected to be lower for the area than they would be if it remained unincorporated.

'Compassionate' Sheriff's Captain Henry L. 'Hank' Schilpp Dies in Sleep

By Max Goodwin

Normally, nothing creates much of a ripple in a department of law enforcement officers.

The death of Sheriff's Capt. Henry L. Schilpp early Thursday morning did.

The men and women of the Sheriff's Lemon Grove office who Capt. Schilpp supervised, today — a week later — were still shaking their heads because of his untimely death. He had not been ill.

Some people called him "captain." Most addressed him as "Hank." There was no disrespect in using his nickname for he was indeed an admired man in Lemon Grove and in the Sheriff's Department.

A saddened group gathered in the Wedding Bell Chapel in San Diego on Friday to meditate on the passing of Hank Schilpp.

He died of an apparent heart attack aboard the boat on which he lived which was berthed at the Kona Kai Club on Shelter Island. He was 47.

Only the week before, his advancement from patrol (commanding) officer of the Lemon Grove office to captain (commanding) of the Sheriff's Central Detective office, was announced.

Succeeded by Friend

He was succeeded in Lemon Grove by Captain George Dodson, a friend who came up through the ranks with him.

"He was a compassionate man," Capt. Dodson said. "His men liked him and so did the public. Every contact he made created another friend for himself and the Department."

John Factor, president of the Lemon Grove Rotary club of which Schilpp was a member of the board of directors, said "We have lost a good and true friend. Hank brought disinction to his profession and to the Rotary club." Factor announced that a Rotary club scholarship would be created in the name of Capt. Schilpp.

Ran with Crawford

San Diego Municipal Judge George Crawford, with whom Schilpp attended running classes at S.D. State U. said "Capt. Schilpp was a great guy and a good officer. He took up running after he had a heart attack five years ago. About two years ago he started smoking again and finally dropped out of the classes. I warned him about smoking. We are all diminished by his passing."

Capt. Lewis Jones, in charge of the Sheriff's Personnel and Training Dept. said "We are going to miss Capt. Schilpp. His great experience in having served in so many areas of the Department made him an executive of exceptional knowledge and efficiency."

Capt. Jones was raised in Lemon Grove. "I used to romp the streets of the Grove and I felt close to the Lemon Grove office and to Capt. Schilpp. I know the citizens there will miss him."

Capt. Schilpp's men described him as "easy going," "cooperative," "outgoing" and "well versed in human behavior." He never raised his voice and almost appeared shy—but he wasn't. He knew that the use of authority had to be backed by ability and interest. These things he possessed and used judiciously.

It should be noted that he was among the most highly admired and respected peace officers in the county.

Through the Ranks

In the 20 years he served the Sheriff's Dept., starting as a deputy in patrol, he advanced to constable in Ramona; Patrol Sgt.; Sgt. of Detectives; Lt. of the Jail Watch; Patrol Lt.; Detective Lt.; Sheriff's Personnel Officer; Capt. of the Lemon Grove office, and finally, a post he didn't live to occupy—Capt. of Central Detectives.

He was past president of the Deputy Sheriff's Assn. and the S.D. County Investigators Assn.. He earned credits in police science and administration by attending USC; Cal. State at Long Beach and S.D. City College. He was graduated from the FBI Academy in 1973.

He was a native of Pittsburgh and in the Navy, he served aboard submarines from 1947 to 1951. He made San Diego his home in 1950 and joined the Sheriff's office in 1956.

Following cremation, the ashes were scattered at sea by the Neptune Society.

Capt. Schilpp is survived by his wife Marcella; two sons and a granddaughter.

High School Senior Shot in L.G. Holdup

Joseph Bundage, 16, a cook at McDonald's restaurant at 7154 Broadway, is recuperating at home this week after being shot in the side by a man who robbed him and took his car.

Bundage, who lives at 1517 San Altos pl., Lemon Grove, said the man approached him in his car as he was leaving work about 3 a.m. Saturday. He demanded the keys to the car and his wallet. The man shot him and drove away. The wallet was found in the parking lot and the car was recovered about 2 blocks away. The loss was not obtained.

The victim was transported to Grossmont hospital and was released the next day.

The robber was described as black, 25-30 years of age, about 5'8" and medium weight.

Bundage is a senior at Mt. Miguel High school.

Funding Workshop in L.G. For Billy Graham Crusade

Fund-raisers for the Greater San Diego Billy Graham Crusade were in Lemon Grove Friday to discuss plans for providing part of $310,000 needed to present the Billy Graham event August 13-20 in the San Diego Stadium. The Friday-to-Friday crusade will be at 7:30 nightly except Sunday at 6.

Chairman of this east county area fund-raising is Lemon Grove's Dr. James C. Kenaga who voiced optimism that his committee's commitment would be met during the luncheon meeting at the Little Scandia buffet.

Taking part in the meeting was the overall finance committee chairman, George A. Scott of Walker Scott Department Stores, and Russell K. Hollingsworth (USN Capt. ret.) and chairman of the Crusade's Layman's committee.

Assignments Given

Dr. Kenaga gave assignments to members of his committee noting that each assignee had been generous in previous Graham campaigns in San Diego. He pointed out that all contributions are tax deductible and that Dr. Graham receives no remuneration from the San Diego Crusade. He is paid an annual salary by the Billy Graham Evangelistic Assn. of Minneapolis.

George Scott told that 5,000 persons from the Lemon Grove, Spring Valley, La Mesa area would attend one or more sessions of the crusade and that 30,000 worshippers would be in attendance on each of the Crusade Nights.

'Huge Undertaking'

The undertaking, Scott said, is gigantic. More than 3,300 youth and adults, many serving on committees, are already at work to assure the success of the Crusade. "It's the Lord's work," he said. "It will be a success."

He listed other worker categories. 3,700 counselors have been organized and trained to inform and advise at the Crusade; 4,000 vocalists are in training to provide choir music for the assemblage; 1,500 ushers will be on hand to aid in seating and 23 typists will work until dawn each day to produce data for appropriate churches so that the information can be delivered the following morning.

Of the 700 churches in the Crusade's Greater San Diego area, 390 have become associated with the Crusade. From this group will be provided 700 buses nightly to carry members of the congregations to the Stadium. Admission is free and no parking charge is made for those who prefer to drive.

"Crusade Prayertime", a series of broadcasts are being made daily over KSON-FM (97.0) at 10:10:15 a.m. and 7:30-7:45 p.m. daily. All media will be used to publicize the Crusade as the event time nears.

Local persons who wish to participate may do so by calling Dr. Kenaga at 463-8827. The Crusade headquarters may be reached at 563-1150.

Dr. Graham will conduct all eight sessions including "youth nights" on Saturday, Monday and Friday.

Cousin Pens Poem Tribute To Brenda

Diedra Finch, 13, cousin of Brenda Marchand, 12, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Finch of 2128 Glencoe place, Lemon Grove, was with Brenda when she was hit by a hit-run driver. Brenda died Saturday in a hospital. Diedra penned these lines while Brenda's life was in limbo. Brenda's father is brother of Mrs. Marchand.

BRENDA

July 27, it was a horrible day. If only it would come back, to have it my way. A girlfriend of Brenda's had spent the night. Until the next day, everything was alright.

Dale (Marchand) told them to be back soon tho. To the dairy is where they wanted to go.

Two maniacs had just stolen a car. Acting like they had just come from a bar.

Trying to get a lot of joy. They missed, but tried to hit a small boy.

His father went and chased after them. But finally they managed to lose him.

The maniacs drove through a red light. The father stopped, to do what he thought right.

The father did get their license plate. Luckily he could, going at that rate.

So they drove 'til they hit Mt. Vernon. The driver's head must have been turnin'.

Brenda's friend had gotten her ice cream cone. They were walking on the road's shoulder alone.

When the car crossed over the lane. And hit Brenda killing her brain.

Her mom kept looking at the clock. Thinking it doesn't take that long to walk.

Gerry (Marchand) and Dale came right there when they found out.

They were too hurt to even shout. Dale rode in the ambulance with her.

Gerry followed, wishing things were not as they were. The Doctors say she won't make it.

But keep on praying, just don't quit. It looks like Brenda is just asleep.

But with machines and all, you can't help but weep. Everybody has been so generous and kind.

But still everything just seems so blind. Everyday people bring in more food.

Even though nobody's in an eating mood. I thought of Brenda as my real, good pal.

Because she's a Super, Great, Nice and Neat Gal. I know I would always fuss.

But that's because I was just jealous. As I wipe the tears away from my face.

I'll never forget the times we went place to place. But at the time it just seems so dumb.

Those maniacs will get their reward. They'll be punished by the Lord.

Different things would always occur. And the memories I'll always remember!

ART GALLERY — Proprietor Don Palmer displays works of El Cajon artist Craig E. Ackerman, two of a variety of paintings for sale at Lemon Grove Gallery, at 7905 Broadway.

Art Gallery Open in Grove

Don Palmer believes he's got a rarity on the local business scene. Last month, he opened doors to the Lemon Grove Gallery, an art outlet at 7905 Broadway. Palmer deals in paintings, sculpture, pottery and other media which artists sell on consignment. The businessman rakes in 30 per cent of sales.

It is believed that the shop is the only one of its kind in Lemon Grove, although there are similar shops in Old Town, Grossmont Center, San Diego and other neighboring communities. The new business, which took over the office space of Lemon Grove Optical Co., will be expanded to include handmade furnishings, Palmer said.

Starting from Scratch Not Always Cheapest for Cook

It may come as a surprise to you, but starting from scratch isn't always the cheapest way around your kitchen, according to the national Consumer Information Center. Depending on the convenience food you choose, it may be more economical than your homemade version.

Last year, the U. S. Department of Agriculture completed a 12-month survey on more than 160 convenience foods. The study compared the cost of the convenience foods with the ingredient costs of comparable home-prepared items.

Here are some of the results:

"When fresh vegetables are in season, they can be economical, but you need to compare carefully the prices of the fresh, canned and frozen varieties. Canned or frozen peas, lima beans and spinach cost only half as much as fresh. And, some of the fresh fruits cost more than their convenience 'twins'."

"Making orange juice from the frozen concentrate is considerably less expensive than making it the old fashioned way by squeezing oranges by hand."

"But... when you enter the world of main dishes, convenience foods are often more expensive. Frozen beef, turkey and seafood dinners, sweet and sour pork, and pizza cost considerably more than your homemade specialties. But, spaghetti made from a package mix or canned is less expensive than made from scratch."

Members plan to include the study of civilization and ancient regimes in their academic schedule this fall. The trip to Europe will give the group a first hand look at what they study in the classroom.

Tickets for the car wash can be obtained from any club member beforehand or at the wash itself. Cost for cars is $1.25, trucks and vans, $2. Vehicles larger than a van will be priced according to size.

Senate OK Awaited By Harriet Allen

Senator Mills said Senate Rules Committee has received letters of support for Ms. Allen from Chairman Lee R. Taylor of the San Diego County Board of Supervisors; Chula Vista Mayor Thomas D. Hamilton Jr.; Councilwoman Lucille V. Moore of El Cajon, and the City of La Mesa.

Mind Over Matter Adds Life to Years

By Lelord Kordel
Number Twenty-Three of a Series

It was a physician with whom I sat during a flight from California to Chicago who pointed out the tremendous physical power of a positive mind. According to his estimate, 60 per cent of the people were sick because of maladjusted minds and souls. Perfect health depends on the proper balance of physical, mental, emotional.

An abused, undernourished, harassed body generally houses a mind incapable of optimum thinking and reasoning. As the body's central power station, the brain must be kept in top physical condition so its mental activities can be controlled.

The man or woman who provides for the sunset years—physically, mentally, and emotionally — fulfills Browning's poetic prophecy. "The best is yet to be, The last of life, for which the first was made..."

You cannot run a healthy mind when you have a physical deficit. The mind governs the body, it is true. But the condition of the body also affects the mind.

Touchy Stomachs
Stomachs abused with inferior, inadequate, and indigestible meals become touchy. So does a brain that is constantly undernourished. In a tired, ill-cared-for body, the brain is subject to a great amount of irritability.

A brain has to be well nourished to be emotionally stable. Dr. Karl Menninger believes food power helps brain power.

I believe that no mental conflict strong enough to cause bodily illness ever arose until the brain cells were so undernourished and so fatigued that nerve-cell energy reached a dangerously low ebb.

By making certain to eat foods that maintain the proper chemical balance in your body, you restore functional balance and check the effects of stress upon your system. Often, by relieving some of the physical tension caused by hidden hunger, you can soften the inner climate in which you must do your thinking. It is much easier to enlist conscious aid if it is not preoccupied with hunger.

Dr. George Morris Piersol believes that nutrition plays a more important part than heredity in the development of more vigorous body resistance and an extension of our life span.

This physician says that if we would only apply the nutritional knowledge that is available to us, we could increase our life span by at least 10 per cent.

Extend Life Span
He believes it is equally important to add life to our years as it is to add years to life. The sparkling, bubbling joy of living is achieved only by an optimum nutritional protection that will improve our life span and assure happiness, health, and efficiency.

Dr. Henry C. Sherman of Columbia University insisted that certain food elements are so important to the aging body that they can add six or more years of human existence.

And Dr. Tom D. Spies, internationally noted nutritionist, said that if humans kept their bodies in chemical balance, they would grow old gracefully — with less mental and physical deterioration.

Many people start to break down chemically in middle life — later becoming nutritional cripples. These cases have been undernourished for years because their diet lacked the proper nutrients: proteins, vitamins, minerals.

Dr. W. Coda Martin of New York City says the incidence of degenerative diseases is increasing by leaps and bounds. He believes the findings of biochemists show that a large share of cases of arteriosclerosis, arthritis, liver and heart disease are the end result of prolonged malnutrition and can be averted by early adoption of an adequate diet.

Dr. E. J. Steigitz says, "The elderly are prone to suffer from protein deficiency more than from any other form of deficiency."

Mild protein deficiency manifests itself chiefly as a "sense of habitual fatigue." Most people neglect themselves through improper diet.

Enviably Health Position
If you are average, chances are that you eat about 75 per cent more starch and sugar foods than are compatible with good health and desire to feel and look younger than your years.

Premature old age is not a natural process, but the result of cumulative nutritional deficiencies.

Aging is a general trend of the changes of the body in both structure and function. You age when atrophy and degeneration tear down your body more rapidly than worn tissues are being replaced.

Balance this wear and tear with foods rich in protein, vitamins and minerals. Cut down on fats, sugars and starches.

And you can slow down the premature aging of your body and live a lot longer than you thought possible!

CHICAGO — Mark Faucher, 7147 San Miguel, Lemon Grove pauses during participation in the 61st annual convention of Kiwanis International in June in San Diego as the first member of a Kiwanis-sponsored Builders' Club ever to attend the worldwide service organizations international conclave. Faucher is pictured taking part in a seminar for club-sponsored organizations other than the Kiwanis-sponsored high school service organization, Key Club International.

Builders clubs were launched last summer at the 60th Kiwanis International convention in Atlanta and is an organization for boys in junior high school or middle schools.

The objects of Builders clubs are to provide opportunities for working together in service to school and community; to develop leadership potential; to foster the development of a strong moral character; and to encourage loyalty to school, community, and nation.

HOME-COOKED This Week's RECIPE

Salmon Swim in Mushroom Sauce

The hearty meals that mother used to prepare not only were tasty, more often than not they were relatively inexpensive to make. With food prices continuing on their perennial climb, now is a good time to borrow a leaf from Mom's recipe book.

She would have approved of this recipe for nutritious Salmoh Square with Mushroom Pea Sauce, suggested by a home economist.

- SALMON SQUARES
(Yield: 8 Servings)
2 cups cooked rice
2 eggs, beaten
2 cups (16 oz.) cottage cheese
1 can (1 lb.) salmon, drained and flaked
1 small onion, finely chopped
1/4 cup chopped green pepper
2 tsp. soy sauce
1 cup soda cracker crumbs
- Combine all ingredients except cracker crumbs. Spoon into a buttered 12x7 1/2 x2-inch baking pan. Sprinkle cracker crumbs over top. Bake at 350° for 40 minutes or until firm in center. Cut into squares. Serve with Mushroom Pea Sauce.
- MUSHROOM PEA SAUCE
3 tbsp. butter
1 can (4 oz.) sliced mushrooms, drained
3 tbsp. flour
1 tsp. seasoned salt
1 1/2 cups milk
1 1/2 cups cooked peas
2 tbsp. chopped pimiento
- Cook mushrooms in butter for 5 minutes. Stir in flour and salt. Gradually add milk. Cook until smooth and thickened, stirring constantly. Stir in peas and pimiento, cooking until hot. Spoon over Salmon Squares.

POLISH NIGHT — Pretty Carole Litinski, Queen of San Diego's Polish Community, welcomed fellow Polak Stan Gosciniak, outstanding setter of the Santa Barbara Spikers pro Volleyball team. Not to be outdone, San Diego Breakers player-coach Rudy Suwara offered himself as the Breakers "token Polak." Suwara is of German-French descent and carries the title "Tasmanian Devil." Gosciniak was on Poland's national volleyball team in 1972 (finished 9th) and is regarded as Poland's best player. The Spikers are 3-2.

Reddan Gains on Star Status

San Diego's pro volleyball Breakers are scheduled for two home games next week. On Wednesday they entertain the Tucson Turquoise and on Friday (the 13th.) come the El Paso Sol.

The Breakers, with all eyes confidently on the IVA championship, have kept going their winning pace with the recent acquisition of Jeff Reddan, 6'4" spike killer (3rd in IVA) from the Santa Barbara Spikers.

Reddan, 1974 All-American, suffered a 2½-year problem with tendinitis in his right arm and his volleyball usefulness was limited.

However, he still led his

UCSB Gauchos to first place victories in the '74 and '75 SCIVA Intercollegiate Championships and second place in the NCAA for the same years. Reddan and the Gauchos went through the '74 U.S. Open Tournament undefeated, the first college team ever to win that title. Jeff was voted an All-American that year.

After acupuncture treatments cleared up his tendinitis early in 1975, Reddan signed as a professional in the IVA's initial season with the Santa Barbara Spikers. "It was the best year I'd ever had. Stan Gosciniak taught me a tremendous amount about volleyball and gave me confidence in myself."

But this season brought new problems to Reddan. The Spikers' new coach, Bobby Garcia, had a personality conflict with the young spiker and tried to trade him early in the year.

"There were a lot of conflicts between me and Garcia. He kept putting me on the bench and that slowly whittled away at my confidence."

When Reddan was traded to San Diego, a whole new world opened up. He feels he's playing as least as good as last year. The Big Reason?

"I'm appreciated down here in San Diego. When the Breakers picked me up, they made me feel needed. When Rudy Suwara (the Breakers player-coach) had me play for him it was one of the biggest things in my life. He gave me back my confidence!"

Reddan has always considered Suwara as his volleyball idol. "And now he's putting me in the starting line before himself. He really impressed me."

Mat Triple Header Set For Coliseum

There's a wrestling triple header Tuesday night at the Coliseum.

Butcher Vachon fights Roddy Piper with the loser leaving town. Three such matches have been held so far. Left: 3 wrestlers.

In a Hell's Kitchen bout in which both contestants have taped fists and no disqualification will be allowed, Fonzo Fargo meets Pork Chop.

The third main is a tag event with the Scorpions taking on Chavo Guerrero and Choi Sun.

Opening bouts include Crusher Verdu against Mr. Mexico No. 2 and Rocky Riddle goes against Frank Monte. Doors open at 6:30. Action at 8:30.

Pistol Stolen In SV

James L. Smith of 8505 Broadway in Lemon Grove told sheriff's deputies his 9 mm S&W pistol and a clip with 8 rounds for same were missing from 1037 Gillespie dr., Spring Valley, an address at which he sometimes lives.

He said that other items of his of value were not taken. He named a suspect.

Pemberton Scores 3rd. Trimph at Cajon Speedway

Point-leading Larry Pemberton, 29-year old Lemon Grove racer who ran second two weeks ago to the then bridegroom-to-be Gary Beecroft, popped right back last week and won the main event by an impressive 10 car lengths at Cajon Speedway.

In doing so, he established a season record of 12:12.45. It was his third win of the season. He outdistanced defending champion Pat McIntyre of Spring Valley.

Beecroft, of Lemon Grove, finished third.

At the July 24 race, Becky Butram, of Lemon Grove, was crowned Speedway Queen. Butram, who finished third in this year's Miss Lemon Grove contest, is manager of the Ulrich service station at 7505 Broadway.

First four in point standings as stock car racers stand aside for the powerful, fast-moving sprinters in their fourth appearance at Cajon Speedway, are Pemberton, 1535; McIntyre, 1440; Ed Hale, Lakeside, 1390, and Beecroft.

Favorite Saturday in the sprint division will be Don Hamilton and Billy Allen, both of El Cajon.

The program will include a 3-lap Trophy Dash; four 10-lap heats; a 12-lap semi-final and a 30-lap feature for the fastest 20 cars. It is a "progressive" program with the top four from each heat moving into the main while the rest scramble for four positions by placing high in the semi-main event.

Jaws Non-League Game at 7:30

San Diego Jaws coach Derek Trevis sends his North American Soccer club into some non-league activity tonight when it meet the San Diego County Summer League All-Stars.

Game time is 7:30 p.m. in Aztec Bowl on the S.D. State U. campus.

The exhibition contest comes during a break in the Jaws 1976 schedule. San Diego, riding a two-game win streak, returns to league play for its final two appearances of the campaign, August 8, at Dallas, and August 13, in Aztec Bowl against Minnesota.

The August 13 windup is Fan Appreciation Night with prizes donated by merchants of the El Cajon Shopping Center in El Cajon. In addition, the merchants will also give free, colored team posters at the game. Players are to be at the Parkway Plaza Center to autograph the photos, August 14.

In conjunction with the Fan Appreciation Night, an all expense paid, eight-day, seven-night vacation to Freeport in the Bahamas will be donated by Holiday Inns and Eastern Airlines.

Chargers in Friday Game at Oklahoma

Joe Washington, Oklahoma Class of 1976, leads the San Diego Chargers against the New England Patriots in an NFL preseason game Friday night at U. of Oklahoma at Norman. Kickoff is 5 p.m. San Diego time.

San Diego and New England opened their summer schedules with victories last weekend. The Chargers of coach Tommy Prothro beat the Philadelphia Eagles, 20-7, at San Diego. The Patriots of coach Chuck Fairbanks topped the New York Giants, 13-7, in overtime at Foxboro, Mass.

Oklahoma will host its first pro football game since Philadelphia and Detroit met there in 1959.

While the names Chargers and Patriots are new, faces on both teams are familiar to Sooner football fans.

The Chargers spotlight their No. 1 draft choice, running back Joe Washington, who was Oklahoma's all-time leading rusher with 3,995 yards; former Sooner guard Kevin Grady and former Sooner assistant coach Rudy Feldman.

The Patriots are led by coach and general manager Chuck Fairbanks, former Oklahoma coach and athletic director, and five Sooner alumni — tight end Al Chandler, running back Leon Crosswhite, nose tackle Ray Hamilton and linebackers Rod Shate at Steve Zabel.

Last Week

The new Chargers attempted a pass on their first scrimmage play and Don Fouts hit Pat Curran for 20 yards. They went on to gain 345 yards in an impressive 20-7 victory over the Philadelphia Eagles.

Don Woods showed the pre-injury form which earned him NFL rookie of the year honors in 1974 by rushing for 57 yards with a 4.4 average, catching four passes and scoring touchdowns on tackle-breaking runs of 1 and 10 yards. He went through all-pro middle linebacker Bill Bergey for the first score on the fourth down.

Fouts completed 11 of 15 passes for 134 yards. Jesse Freitas went 4 of 6 for 57 yards. Newcomer Charlie Joiner caught three passes for 48 yards. Defensive standouts included tackle Louie Kelcher, who received the game ball, and cornerback Mike Williams, who had an interception.

The major rookie surprise on the Chargers is defensive end John Lee, who played nose guard at Nebraska. A No. 13 draft choice, Lee currently is first string at right end.

Asked if he had any problems tackling Joe Washington when Nebraska played Oklahoma, Lee answered with a smile, "Every time I got to him I tackled him. But there were times you just didn't get to him."

"This game was very satisfying," said Chargers Coach Tommy Prothro. "It's good to win early. There has got to be improvement, but I think we're on the right track. Both units played well. The defense played extremely well. I think we have a long way to go with our special teams."

The Chargers play the St. Louis Cardinals at Tokyo, Japan, on Monday, August 16 at 2:30 a.m. San Diego time.

Hafey, Lopez Add 'Sudden Death' To Friday Fight

San Diego's slugging featherweight Art Hafey, 24 is scheduled to fight Indian "Little Red" Lopez Friday in the L.A. Forum with the winner assured of a title bout with David Kotey of Ghana.

The 12-round fight, to be shown on closed circuit TV at San Diego's Coliseum at 15th and E sts., will have a "first" in boxing as part of the agreement. If the official result is a draw, both fighters will fight a "sudden death" round. The Cal. Athletic Commission has approved the arrangement.

Hafey's record is 57-7-4—the last 19 were consecutive wins. He's the no. 1 contender.

No. 2 is Lopez. His record is 30-3 with 29 K.O's.

Coliseum doors will open at 6:30. 2,000 seats are on sale at $10—first come-first served. The ticket number is 233-4664.

Toppled Records Seen for Indoor Pro Track Meet

Percentagewise, it is likely that records, when they fall, will be at an indoor professional track meet.

Such can be the expectation of track fans when the International Track Assn. holds its first San Diego meet at the Arena August 20, at 7 p.m.

When ITA began competition in Pocatello, Idaho, in 1973, three indoor records were broken. Warren Edmondson took the 100 meter dash; Lee Evans broke the 600 meter run record, and John Radetich topped the world indoor high jump record (7' 4¼") previously held by Valeriy Brumel.

In all, 13 world indoor marks were broken or tied the first ITA year. The next there were 9, and last year the total jumped to 13 again.

Radetich will be back. He topped 7'6" in Salt Lake in February but Dwight Stones had cleared 7'6¼" in New York earlier the same evening. Ben Jipcho, the Kenyan marvel. One of the best in the world in the 1,500 and 5,000 meters and the 3,000 meter steeplechase, is programmed.

So is Steve Smith, history's first 18' indoor vaulter (as an amateur in 1973). He has raised his own record three times, and made 18' commonplace. Last year he topped 18'5", today's indoor record.

Brian Oldfield has been here. He has the five longest shot put tosses in history: 75'0, 1975; 73'8, 1976; 73'1, 1975; 73'¾, 1975; and 72'6¼, 1975—World's indoor record.

Tickets are $6-$5-$4-$3 and parking is free. Students and seniors will get a $1 discount.

Expense Account

While traveling in government business in the United States, federal employees are allowed $33 a day for expenses, except in a few exceptionally expensive cities.

Baseball 'Greats' at Stadium For Saturday's Old Timers Game

For some, the big attraction will be the Houston Astros who accompany the Padres home for a four-game series tonight through Sunday.

For many, it will be Buzzie Bavasi's annual Old Timers game to be part of a "sort of double header" Saturday night.

Game times are 7 p.m. as usual except Sunday's 1 o'clock contest. The Padres Saturday game will be about 8:15 immediately following the Old Timers production which gets under way at 7.

A bit clouded is the positions some of the former stars will play — but they'll all be on the field bringing back pleasant memories to the large gathering which traditionally attends these nostalgic get-togethers.

Bullpen Skills To Be Rewarded

To further reward one of baseball's most significant set of specialists, the Major League Baseball Promotion Corp. (MLBPC) announced plans this week to present awards annually to the sport's most effective relief pitchers.

Beginning this year, the premier relievers in the American and National Leagues and on each of the 24 major league clubs will be selected on the basis of a newly-established point system.

The awards, which will be in the form of sterling silver trophies of firemen's caps, will be known as Relief Man awards. The honors will be sponsored in conjunction with MLBPC by the Warner-Lambert Company, maker of Rol-aids.

Under the new system, two points will be credited for each win and a similar number for each save and one point will be taken away for each loss to determine both the league and club winners. In case of ties, the relief hurler with the lowest earned run average will be declared the winner.

AMA Cycle Rivalry Renewed at Ascot

GARDENA — Gary Scott of Baldwin Park and Kenny Roberts, of Turlock, locked in their annual rivalry for American Motorcycle Assn. and Camel Pro Series national No. 1 ranking, bring their 1976 duel to J. C. Agajanian's Ascot Saturday night.

Scott, who wrested the top honors from Roberts last season, is also two-year defending champion of this 15th annual 25-lap national TT steeplechase. Roberts, No. 2 last year and striving to overtake Scott, first-half Camel Pro Series champion this year, captured Ascot's half-mile national a year ago.

From the time they started as novices in Ascot's Friday-night shows in 1960, the 24-year-old California pair have never been far from each other in points or crossing the finish line.

As first-year experts in 1972, Scott finished second in AMA points and Roberts fourth. In 1973-74, Roberts was grand-national champion, and Scott was second both years. Together they have won five of the eight national events staged at Ascot in their four years as experts.

MEMO TO THE BOSS

It looks as if I talked myself into a corner, right between a rock and a hard place. It has to do with horses. Not those fancy fillies and spirited sprinters doing their thing at Del Mar. No sir, nothing easy like sittin' down and picking winners.

My big mouth got me in a spot where I have to crawl up on one of those hay burners of Big John Elliott out at Miramar Ranch and play at being a real, bonafide cowboy.

I figured my size would keep me out of trouble like that. You know, I'm still about a foot short for my weight and no ranch foreman worth his chaps is gonna put a 250-pound he-man full of rested muscle on the back of no everyday working horse. At least that's what I thought.

Big John Elliott did me one better. He claimed he had a horse that could carry its own weight and I was only about a quarter that size.

He also said some unkind things, like only a coward would duck the chance to see what a "real" cowboy went through in rodeo and how he must have been wrong when he told his friends I was a stand-up, two-fisted, he-man type that smoked cigars and drank beer out of the can.

You see how it is. There ain't no way for me to duck out on this one. And, as a matter of fact, you're invited. I told Big John Elliott how you also drank and smoked and carried on and that in your youth, you even chewed tobacco. That cinched it. He said he had a horse for you, too.

Unless you figure a way out for both of us, we're due at the San Diego media fried chicken and backside bustin' party that kicks off N.A.S. Miramar's annual "Fighter Town Rodeo" that raises money for the air station's Special Service programs.

You remember about that. I told you last year. All the money left over after trophies, prize money, bandages, splints, plaster of paris and wrappin' tape are taken out goes into Miramar's recreation fund. It helps pay for fishin' gear, sports programs, camping equipment and the like.

It all comes up this weekend and us media types get our ups and downs on Friday. Big John sure is good to us.

"We'll have in all the chutes and gates by then," he told me. "And if any of the writers, television or radio folks want to try their hand, the buckin' stock and bulls will be available."

I might have mentioned it before, but it's worth repeating. The Seven States Rodeo Company is furnishing the stock and such and they have six or so bulls that have been on the circuit about 10 years that ain't never been rode. They're the ones Big John is offerin'. Ain't he a sweetheart!

The Rodeo proper will kick off at 2 p.m. both Saturday and Sunday at Miramar's horse doings. The ranch is on the east side of highway 163, right there at the main entrance to the air station. You get there by coming off the south end of the overpass bridge.

And have they got things planned. They're going to have all the usual stuff. Bare back and saddle bronc ridin', bull ridin' and bull doggin', calf ropin', team ropin' and ladies barrel racing, but that ain't all.

For the first time ever, the gals are gettin' in one of the main attractions. Big John Elliott and his crowd are gonna have mixed ropin' where a lady throws a loop at one end of a steer and her male partner makes a throw at the other end.

"We have commitments from some of the best riders in the world," says Big John. The Miramar doings are official and sanctioned by the IRA and winners gain points for world standings.

"Glenn Evert is driving over from Arizona," said Big John. "Jim Henderson is comin' and Dave Betties. We know about the ropers comin', cause they make arrangements for their own ridin' stock. The bull and bronc riders only have to bring tack and they'll fly in. Most of 'em in their own planes.

Rodeoin' had gone to become big business, but one thing remains the same. They got a pretty gal to be the queen. DeeDee Perret, 18, a recent graduate of Point Loma High will reign over this year's doing. Even though she'd rather be a competitor. She and her golden palomino "Sunny" are something to see.

Looks like there's no way except for me to get on that damn horse myself.

'Rags to Riches' Promotion For Caliente Former Groom

TIJUANA — It had a movie-like rags-to-riches theme for former groom Jesus "Chuy" Guerrero, 31-year old native of Tijuana.

La Jolla Mile Tops Card at Del Mar Track

The $30,000-added La Jolla Mile, one of the most exciting stakes events on the Del Mar schedule since its inauguration in 1937, will have its 36th running Sunday as the climactic race of the week at the seaside course.

Preceding the La Jolla Mile on Saturday will be the $20,000-added San Clemente Stakes for three-year-old fillies at a mile and one-sixteenth on the grass.

The La Jolla Mile, which a year ago showcased Larrikin in a record setting performance wherein he accomplished a mile on the turf in a blazing 1:35 flat, promises to attract an outstanding line-up of three-year-olds.

Bay Area Stables' Madera Sun, who has developed into a stakes sophomore after beginning his career in claiming company, is expected to make his Del Mar debut in the La Jolla. The son of Montparnasse upset favored An Act in scintillating fashion in the Will Rogers Stakes at Hollywood Park earlier this summer.

Talented Rivals

Anticipated rivals of Madera Sun include such talented runners as Mrs. Connie M. Ring's Today 'n Tomorrow, Daniel Schwartz' Dr. Krohn, a colt by onetime "Horse of the Year" Arts and Letters, and Robert Sangster's Wood Green, an import from England who is conditioned by Tom Pratt.

Heading the field in the San Clemente Stakes, which is styled for sophomore fillies who are non-winners of a race worth $15,000 to the winner, will be Vincent Kanowsky's I Going, a promising filly by Vertex. I Going was a strong third behind Answer and Framari in the Hollywood Oaks.

Other prospects for the San Clemente Stakes, which a year ago was run in two divisions, include Go March, who also chased Answer in the Hollywood Oaks; the rapidly-improving Penny Gown, and Madam Gaylady and Rosey Hill, both of whom are already winners this Del Mar meeting.

Albacore Return Draws Fishermen

With last week's albacore count running from 1,500 to 2,000 fish, this summer bids fair to top last summer's good run of this game, fighting member of the tuna family.

In addition to the boats running from the three San Diego landings, Mission Bay now boasts its own big albacore vessel, the 75' New Seaforth. She'll be leaving nightly from Seaforth Sportfishing in Quivira basin. So far, her catch has averaged three albacore a passenger, according to Seaforth Sportfishing manager, "Mac" McHolland.

Passenger counts from San Diego and Mission Bay have run well over the 1,000 mark, with large numbers of fishermen coming down from Los Angeles. Apparently anglers are trying to make up for the time lost prior to last summer's good albacore run, when for two years in a row, the sleek and classy fish completely avoided San Diego's fishing waters.

Rod Laver, Candidate For MVP in World Tennis?

By Irv Grossman

Chris Evert will make her final San Diego appearance Saturday night when the Friars face the division-leading Phoenix Racquets at the Sports Arena starting at 7:30.

San Diego also plays at home Sunday night taking on the second-place Golden Gaters and Tom Okker, Francoise Durr and Betty Stove.

Evert, who won convincingly at Wimbledon this summer, has not lost a set in singles at the Sports Arena. But San Diego's Terry Holladay reversed that score the last time he met in Phoenix.

Holladay slammed out a 7-6 victory in that match, her first win over Evert.

Men, Too

Strong man of the Friars, Rod Laver, will be making his presence known.

By all rights — and reasons — Rod Laver should be named the most valuable male player for the World Team Tennis 1976 season.

Teenager Arrested For Theft of Whiskey

Teenage girls, 14, 15 and 16, were stopped by a security guard at Food Basket Market, 3205 Imperial ave., Lemon Grove, on July 28 after one of the suspects was observed putting liquor in her brown leather purse.

The girls, all from Encanto, had purchased two 26 oz. bottles of Coke and paid for them at the check stand.

Sheriff's deputies interrogated the girls at the market and uncovered three pints of Seagram's 7 Crown bourbon in a purse. The 16-year-old girl admitted the theft and said she had been drinking liquor since she was 13. The 15-year-old had taken a relative's car without permission and drove it to the market without a driver's license. The 14-year girl was not charged but all were turned over to their parents.

Busy Burglars Make $3,000 Three-Stop, One Day Haul

The home of a Lemon Grove woman was burglarized of $1,335 in valuables on July 27 while she was away. Kathleen J. Nelson, of 6811 San Miguel st. reported to sheriff's deputies.

In the loot was a $300 Leica camera and gold jewelry, a wedding ring, an Indian necklace and a pin.

The intruder used a knife to cut open a rear screen door. The same day, two hours later, James C. Berry of 2401

Weight Falls on Property

'Ludicrous, Unfair' Programs Boost Taxes

The County Supervisors Assn. of California represents 58 counties in California with 296 supervisors as members. It advocates the positions of county government before the Legislature and other state and federal entities.

"The Legislature and the Governor are sitting atop a property tax time bomb while the fuse smolders under county government," the president of the statewide county association has warned.

Arthur Edmonds, President of the County Supervisors Assn. of California, and a Yolo County Supervisor, charged "Most property tax relief proposals in the Legislature this year shackle local government without offering real relief for homeowners and renters."

"Some legislators have chastised local government for our vigorous opposition to these measures," he said. But not a one of those proposals would put a lid on the new programs and services that drive up government costs.

"There are several reasons why property taxes go up, but virtually none of these root causes has been addressed by the Legislature."

Curtain and Outback

One primary reason, he noted, is that the state requires counties to operate new programs or provide new services without financing them. "On the local level," Edmonds said, "counties are responding to citizen demands to curtail new programs and cut back old ones. But the Legislature can have its cake and eat it, too. It can require local government to operate new programs, but it isn't required to, and frequently doesn't, pay for them."

Since property tax rate limits were placed on local government in 1972, Edmonds said, the Legislature has passed and Governors Reagan and Brown have signed into law more than 700 bills mandating new duties on local government. None of these 700 measures provided reimbursement for its costs of meeting the new duties. Their mandates increase costs for counties, cities, schools, and special districts, forcing property taxes higher and higher.

Additionally, he said, counties must contribute money to a number of statewide programs. Programs such as Medi-Cal and some adult welfare programs, he argued, create a "state-levied property tax" since the county share of these programs increases automatically when property values increase. "It is simply ludicrous, and overwhelmingly unfair to homeowners and renters, to fund such statewide programs from the local property tax," he said.

Reform Desired

"Counties always stand ready to support real property tax reform. Just this year the Association sponsored a measure that would have provided significant tax relief to those on low and moderate incomes who need help the most — senior citizens, homeowners, and renters. Yet the Legislature turned its back on our proposal."

More dynamite is being shoved into the bomb, Edmonds continued. The Serrano decision requiring the Legislature to alter the state's school financing system is expected to put heavy pressure on local property taxes.

Further pressure originates with lagging state financial contributions to state programs which counties operate. "Many state-mandated programs — from free counsel for the indigent to foster care for children — set the state share at a fixed dollar amount," Edmonds reported. "The increased costs of these state programs must be financed directly from property taxes."

Still another pressure is a ballot initiative proposed by Los Angeles County Assessor Philip Watson. "Like the Legislature's proposals," Edmonds said, "this measure places a lid on property taxes but does nothing to help hard-pressed homeowners or get at the source of the property tax pressures."

Petitions Here

In Lemon Grove, petitions are being passed by Sue Southern (8426 Broadway, phone 469-8641) that would place on the November ballot an initiative that would limit taxes on residential property to 2 per cent of fair market value and that limit would be reduced if taxes for schools, welfare, medical and other purposes are eliminated. It would increase homeowner's exemption to $40,000 for those over 61 and prohibit increased taxes because of repairs and minor improvements.

OK Sought for Lots Near Spring Valley

The County of San Diego has received a draft environmental impact report EIR for Sweetwater Village East.

The project involves subdividing 39.1 acres into 155 lots for a planned residential development. The development site is east of Spring Valley.

The draft EIR for this project is available for review at the County's Environmental Analysis Division, 9150 Chesapeake dr., San Diego; the Ecology Center, 340 Kalmia st., San Diego; and the Lemon Grove Library.

Comments on this draft must be submitted in writing to the Environmental Analysis Division by August 30.

The Environmental Review Board telephone is 565-3927.

Spark Plugs Taken

A visit with friends turned out to be an automotive nightmare for Jerry Paul Ratliff of 8885 Orville st., Spring Valley, on July 27.

While visiting, someone removed the windshield from his VW to get inside for his tools.

To make a chase impossible, the thief removed two spark-plugs and the distributor cap. It will cost him $50 to get his car back in shape.

Letters to the Editor

Benefits Cited in Traffic Case Change

Dear Editor:

I recently had an opportunity to read an article in your paper dated April 22, on the Department of Motor Vehicles traffic court reform proposal. As the article noted, the proposed system would result in moving minor traffic cases from the courts to an administrative agency such as the Department of Motor Vehicles.

Under the proposed system, savings and increased revenue would likely result in significant statewide cost savings on the order of $13 million per year. In addition, other expected benefits would include:

— Uniformity and consistency in the hearing and sanction process through the use of a uniform sanction guide which would take into consideration the driver's statewide driving record.

— Accused drivers would be able to defend themselves anywhere in the state by waiving the right to confrontation with the accusing officer.

— All hearings would be conducted simply in a relaxed atmosphere without the accused person carrying the stigma of a criminal, since a minor traffic offense would no longer be classified as a crime.

— The existing judicial system would be better able to cope with more complex cases as the result of having a lighter workload.

Where It Started

You might be interested in knowing that the administrative adjudication of traffic infractions began in New York City nearly six years ago. The system proved so successful that the cities of Buffalo and Rochester asked that they be allowed to participate.

More recently, virtually the entire state of Rhode Island has converted to this system. Both the Federal Department of Justice and the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration strongly support this type of reform since it has the potential of making time in the courts available for more serious matters as well as improving traffic safety.

The Legislature is currently studying the proposal. Public hearings are expected late this fall. We will be working closely with various groups and individuals in the coming months, to answer questions that have been raised.

Deputy Rickert Rides Again

Dear Editor,

It seems that Deputy Rickert has again tweaked the nose of the San Diego County District Attorney, Ed Miller. In a letter to the Editor, it appears as though the District Attorney has gone through an extensive investigation and come up with the allegation that Deputy Rickert does not exist.

However, don't be fooled by another one of the District Attorney's inept investigations. Deputy Rickert is alive and well and looking out for justice for all persons throughout San Diego County.

Keep tuned to the LEMON GROVE REVIEW for upcoming excerpts in the life and times of Deputy Rickert as he battles for law and order.

Small Claims Court Geared for Minor Debts

In every county in California there is a court where legal disputes are handled in an uncomplicated manner and where attorneys are not allowed: The Small Claims Court.

The Small Claims Court is designed for the resolution of disputes where the amount of money involved is small (less than $500) and it is not worth it to the parties to hire a lawyer to assist them.

While most people think of lawsuits strictly as actions to obtain money from some other person, a great many of the lawsuits actually filed every year do not involve the request for money, but actually seek some other kind of relief, such as an injunction, an order to get a nonpaying tenant out of a house, etc. In Small Claims Court you may sue only for money, and if you seek more than $500 you may not use it.

A Look at Past Issues

A look at the pages of this newspaper twenty years ago reveals some of the interesting contrasts between then and now. This column highlights some of the items that appeared in this newspaper at this time two decades ago.

As with any other court, a judge — either a justice court judge or a municipal court judge — actually hears the case (no jury is allowed). And, as in other cases, only persons who are 18 or older may file a suit in Small Claims Court, unless they have a parent or guardian who will accompany them to court and appear with them.

Even though the jurisdictional limit is $500, many people who have a claim somewhat higher find it advisable to reduce their request to $500, file in Small Claims Court, and therefore avoid the expense of attorney's fees.

Although there are a great many advantages to Small Claims Court for the person who claims that someone else owes him money, there is one disadvantage that everyone considering bring a Small Claims Court action must bear in mind. That is that the plaintiff (the person who files the suit) cannot appeal the case if he loses. On the other hand, if the defendant (the person who is sued) loses the case, he can appeal.

How To File

Filing a Small Claims case is simple. You must obtain the necessary forms from the clerk of the court — either the municipal or the justice court, depending upon the district in which you reside — and follow the clerk's instructions on how to properly fill them out.

Lemon Grove-Spring Valley residents would file at the El Cajon court house, 110 E. Lexington. The telephone number is 442-9861.

At the time you file the case, you must pay a $2 filing fee, which, if you win the case, will be ordered paid to you by the defendant, in addition to the amount of your judgment.

You must state on the form the name and address of each person you are suing, the amount of money which you are claiming, and a brief statement of the nature of the case.

After this is done, the court clerk prepares an order which is served on the defendant, advising the defendant that he is being sued and that if he does not appear in court on a certain date to defend himself a default will be taken against him.

You may not serve this order yourself, but the clerk may serve it for you by certified mail (for a charge of $1.50), or for a slightly greater fee you may have the sheriff serve it for you.

Actually, anyone over the age of 18 who is not a party to the lawsuit may serve the papers on the defendant, but it is usually best to have the proper authorities handle service for you. If you get to court and discover that the defendant has not been properly served, you must start the procedure all over again.

If the defendant lives or works in the same county in which the court is located, he must receive the order notifying him of the lawsuit at least five days before the trial date, and if he lives or works in another county he must receive it at least fifteen days before the trial.

What Happens

Because Small Claims Court is truly a "people's court" and the persons who appear there are not trained in the law, the proceedings are quite informal.

Usually, when you get to court, the judge will explain what the procedures are. When your case is called, both you and the other party, as well as any witnesses that you have, will be sworn to an oath that you will tell the truth.

The plaintiff is required to tell his side of the case first. He should be certain to tell the judge all of the facts that he feels are important as to why the defendant owes him the money. Usually, the judge will ask each party and each witness questions of his own to help him get all of the relevant information.

While it is important that you tell the judge all of the relevant facts, it is equally important that you prepare in advance so that you can state them briefly and be direct and to the point. Small Claims Court is usually quite crowded, and if you are not brief and to the point, you may not be given sufficient time to tell the full story.

Usually, you will have the right to cross examine the other party to the suit as well as any witnesses which he may bring into court, and he has the same right of cross examination against you and your witnesses.

If your claim involves a matter which is not common knowledge to most people (for example, television repairs, plumbing repairs, etc.) it is a good idea to have an "expert" in the field, such as another plumber or television repairman, to explain to the judge why the repairs that were done in your case were done improperly.

After hearing both sides and their witnesses (if any) testify, the judge will either render his decision on the spot or will mail it to you.

Win or Lose

As with any other lawsuit, the mere fact that you win your case in Small Claims Court (if you do) is usually not the end of the matter. You still have to collect the money, and the court itself will do nothing for you in this regard.

However, once you have a judgment, the clerk of the court will provide you with various forms which may be used to have the marshal or sheriff help you to collect the judgment, and will explain what the collection procedures are.

Points To Remember

• Do not be misled by the mere passage of time since your claim arose. However, there are certain restrictions as to the time after the occurrence happened that require you to file the claim within a certain time period.

For example, in a personal injury action you must file within one year after the injury arose. There are several other limitations called "Statutes of limitation", but do not be afraid to file a claim just because several months have elapsed.

• Prepare your case carefully and properly. Be sure to gather and bring to court with you any written documents which help to explain or support your case, as well as any witnesses who have personal knowledge of any facts in your favor.

If a witness will not voluntarily agree to come to court, the clerk will provide you "subpoena" forms to have him ordered into court to testify.

• Be brief and to the point — and under no circumstances is it advisable to argue with the judge.

• Unlike other courts which have seemingly interminable delays, your case will come up in Small Claims Court within 10 to 30 days if the defendant lives in the county where it is filed. If outside the county, it will be tried within 30 to 60 days. Be prepared for an early court date.

space and recreation development in heavily urbanized areas of California. Local recreation and school officials have begun writing letters to the county Board of Supervisors and Park and Recreation department, in hopes of persuading the County to throw some of its $2 million share their way.

The Lemon Grove Recreation Assn., newly formed group of community volunteers dedicated to improve the recreation picture in Lemon Grove, met July 22 to resolve that the pool is the item of prime importance. LGRA (nicknamed Legra) drafted a letter to County Park and Rec. chief Lloyd Lowrey, with copies to the Supervisors, asking that money from the urban park and open space act be used for a Mt. Miguel High pool. Principal Pyle and Lemon Grove School District Superintendent Robert Sutton wrote similar letters.

Public response from county officials began with a rather negative comment by James Tennant, county park development director, who said it was doubtful that the county's share of S.B. 174 would be used for anything other than regional park development, such as the Sweetwater Regional Park in Bonita. He also hinted that, should the county decide to concentrate on local projects, areas other than Lemon Grove have greater need for the funds.

His statements were backed up by 2nd district Supervisor Dick Brown, who has apparently tied the S.B. 174 dole into the current county government initiative to encourage unincorporated areas to establish local governing agency.

Said Brown in response to a letter drafted by Bob Swanson, president of the Lemon Grove Recreation Assn., "The Board of Supervisors has determined that urban-type services and programs such as recreation are not suitable functions of county government. Areas desiring such services should either incorporate, annex to an adjacent city or form or expand service areas to fund the desired program. In my opinion, the Board would apply this same policy to your request for funds which may be available under SB 174."

Also in the letter, Brown supported Tennant's contention that the Regional Park Development, an "approved park program," would more likely benefit from the S.B. 174 allotment.

"We have only begun to fight," said Donna Beckley, community school director, undaunted by the response of county officials. Beckley discovered the possible funding source through her affiliation with the California Park and Recreation Society, Inc.

Coast Guard Sonar Technician Third Class Ralph L. Nichols, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy A. Nichols of 1550 Watwood rd., Lemon Grove, was one of the 3,700 Coast Guardsmen who supported the Bicentennial maritime activities in New York Harbor on the 4th of July weekend.

Nichols and his fellow Coast Guardsmen were responsible for waterborne traffic control and emergency assistance during the International Naval Review and "Operation Sail '76."

His cutter escorted more than 200 sailing vessels and yachts, including the "Tall Ships," into the harbor. Escort duties included ensuring that the large sailing vessels had maneuvering room, assisting with inter-ship communications, plus providing assistance in docking and anchoring.

Due to the presence of 10,000 pleasure craft on hand to view the events, the Coast Guard responded to more than four times the usual amount of distress calls for a normal summer weekend.

Nichols serves aboard the Coast Guard Cutter Morgenthau, homeported in Governors Island, N.Y.

A 1974 graduate of Mt. Miguel High School, he joined the Coast Guard in August 1974.

Newspapers to be Recycled At Four New Area Locations

La Mesa, Spring Valley and Lemon Grove residents will soon be able to recycle their newspapers at four new locations, thanks to the San Diego Ecology Centre. In order to augment the paper recycling service available throughout most of the County, the Centre — a non-profit, environmental education and energy information outlet — is adding paper bins at these locations:

Limit Eyed for Home-Business Mix

A limit of family dwellings on land zoned for a mix of offices, restaurants, hospitals and residential apartments, is being considered by the County Board of Supervisors.

The proposal would limit the number of residential apartment units in the zoning classification of R-P (Residential-Professional) to 29 per acre and require a special use permit for all multiple family dwellings in the R-P zone. The present R-P zone ordinance allows up to 43 residential apartments per acre without a special use permit.

The Board of Supervisors will hold a hearing on August 11, at 2 p.m. in Room 310 at the County Administration Center, 1600 Pacific Highway to consider the proposal. The proposed ordinance is available for inspection in Room 306 of the County Administration Center. The telephone is 565-5854.

Eastridge Liquor (corner of Dale and University ave.), La Mesa;

Taco Bell (corner of Sweetwater rd. and Broadway), Lemon Grove;

Mayfair Market (corner of Campo rd. and Kenwood dr.), Casa de Oro.

According to Director Molly Jean Featheringill, the Centre has received calls concerning the availability of paper recycling centers in the East County.

"In keeping with our objectives of providing environmental information and recycling services to the general public, we plan to add paper pick-up sites in the El Cajon area in the near future," she said.

The latest effort at solid waste management broadens the Ecology Centre's involvement in glass, office waste paper and Christmas tree recycling.
